

“Institutional Repository Awareness at M.D. College Library Repository”

Organised by IQAC of M.D. College, Parel, Mumbai-12

Monday, 8th January 2018.

Venue - Mini theatre of the College.

IQAC of M.D. College organised workshop for the benefit of the Degree college teachers on “Institutional Repository Awareness at M.D. College Library Repository” on Monday, 8th January 2018 at 10.30am. in Mini theatre of the College.

Institutional Repositories (IR) showcases scholarly and research output to the wider community and also contributes to the institutional advancement and outreach. It helps to raise the profile and brand awareness of an institution, faculty and students to the global community. Therefore it is increasingly becoming an essential component of academic institutions. DSpace is ideal digital library software for building online Institutional Repository; which is free and customisable to fit the needs of the College and enables open sharing of content on web.

The objectives of the workshops were-

- Open access to institutional research output by self archiving it
- Create global visibility for an institution’s scholarly research
- Collect content in a single location
- Store and preserve other institutional digital assets, including unpublished or otherwise easily lost (grey) literature.

Mrs. Shaheen Sufiyan Momin, Librarian, Kalsekar Technical Campus Knowledge Resource Centre, New Panvel and Mr. Pralhad Jadhav, Senior Manager at Knowledge Repository, Khaitan and Company (Corporate law firm) were the Guest Speakers. Technical assistant, Mr. Rupesh Gaonkar, Assisatnt Librarian, Kalsekar Technical Campus Knowledge Resource Centre, New Panvel

Following important topics were discussed in the workshop

- M.D. College repository – D Space introduction
- Structure Hierarchy at DSpace
- How to upload the documents by faculty
- How to upload any paid publication in the repository
- IPR and Copyright issues
- Fair use provision
